"LA TOSCA."*PRINCESS TODAY.

Mabel Normand will make her first appearance as a star in Goldwyn Pictures in "Dodging a Million," a mystery drama written by Edgar Selwyn, author of "Nearly Married," in which Madge Kennedy stars on the screen, and A. M. Kennedy. Miss Normand is an international favorite in filmdom and her return to motion picture theatregoers after a long absence will be in the nature of a genuine sensation when "Dodging a Million" is shown.

"Dodging a Million" is described as a novel mystery play of love, thrills and laughter. It was written especially to fit the charm and artistic capabilities of Miss Normand, and is said to present her as an actress of unsuspected emotional range. Her undoubted good looks and natural vivacity should combine to give the new film a wide popularity.

PREACHED BY REV. BOSCOM WATERS LAST TWO NIGHTS.

Evangelist Boscom Waters went after card playing, dancing and picture shows Thursday night in vigorous style.

Last night he preached another of his special sermons on the subject "Chickens will Come Home to Roost."

THURSDAY'S CASUALTIES.

Nine Americans were killed in action and 66 wounded, Thursday, including seven officers.

TRUSTEES TO BE ELECTED

NEXT SATURDAY FOR BOTH
THE WHITE AND COLORED
SCHOOLS.

The annual election of school trustees for both the white and colored schools will be held a week from to-day.

The terms of T. W. Morris, J. H.
Cate and L. B. Cornette have expired and it is understood they are all standing for re-election. As yet no candidates have been named against them.

The election will be by the viva voce system, only white voters voting for the white schools. The colored voters will choose two trustees for their school at the same time, voting at a different poll.

PRINCESS TOMORROW.

"La Tosca," the famous Opera, was written by Sardou in France for Sarah Bernhardt over thirty years ago.

The Paramount version of this Opera will be shown with Pauline Frederick in the stellar role, in which she is afforded unusual dramatic opportunity.

During the filming of this picture at Ft. Marion, Florida, Miss Frederick made her debut as a daredevil, when she made a sensational fall of 30 ft. from a parapet of the fort into the water.

The settings for this picture were copied exactly from Roman buildings, including the castle of St. Angelo, the interior of the church of St. Andrea; and the costumes follow those used on the Operatic stage, being extremely well adapted to Miss Frederick.

This is said to be one of the most exquisite screen productions ever filmed.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

(By Ben King Harned.)

The manual training department has probably done more for the school in a material way than any other division of the school work.
3 rooms and an office are required for the department. One room is used to store the rough material, another is occupied finishing the products, and the third is the shop in which all of the heavy work is done.
There is also an office used only by the instructor, and the boys taking purely mechanical drawing courses.

The shop, which is the most interesting of all the divisions, is equipped with fourteen benches, three wall cases, with glass fronts, also a planer, morticer and variety saw, all run by electricity. Each desk is supplied with a saw, a mallet and vice and other small tools necessary at all times. The larger and more delicate tools are kept in the cases arranged along the wall.

Everything that the boys make is first drawn to scale and from this drawing the separate parts are cut and put to scale. The rough material is planed by each boy as he needs it and then cut into the desired size and shape. If there are delicate grooves to be cut they are also made by machinery. The material used is paid for by the boys and in doing their own planing and sawing they not only acquire the knowledge of machinery but are also taught the value of economy. After the pieces have been cut they are put together by glue, screws or pegs, as the case may call for, and then the product is sandedpapered and the preserver and stain applied. The stain particularly adapted to each kind of wood is used. The boys have made everything from a paper rack to a hundred and fifty dollar demonstrating bench for the science room. At a most conservative estimate the shop has turned out a thousand dollars worth of furniture this year. Cedar chests, piano benches, library tables and skiffs that would seat six people are some of the things which have been made.

The manual training shop has paid an excellent interest on the money invested in it with the things which they have made for the school. Besides the science bench they have made book cases, bulletin boards and have equipped the physics laboratory with tables. All of the extra equipment which has been needed from time to time in the shop has been made by the boys.

Another very important division of this work is the mechanical drawing class. This work includes the drawing of intricate values or of house plans which ever the student may desire. Plans for houses with elevation and wiring are all drawn by this class and then blue prints are made of the work. Several blue prints of elevations and also general plans there sent to the K. E. A. last week. Plans for the domestic art girls to plan the houses and for the boys to draw them have been under consideration for some time. In this way both classes would get much practical work. Many of the men
